OBESE ROBBER "MAY HAVE DIED AT ANY POINT"

A MAN who died trying to rob an Oxford jewellers was obese and could have passed away at any time, his inquest heard on Tuesday.

Clint Townsend, 33, from Oxford, died last year after smashing a shop window to rob John Gowing Jewellers in the Covered Market, Oxfordshire Coroner's Court heard.

Mr Townsend was tackled to the floor and sat on by a group of people including the shop owner and manager after smashing the store's window with a sledgehammer – assistant coroner Alison Thompson heard.

Owner John Gowing told the court he was "devastated" by Mr Townsend's death.

He added: "A really horrible experience was just made even worse by the fact that he had passed away."

On the second day of his inquest on Tuesday pathologist Dr Ashley Fegan-Earl told the court: "He could have died at any point at rest, asleep, at work."

He said Mr Townsend was obese and his arteries were just 1mm wide.

Dr Fegan-Earl ruled he died of a hypoxic brain injury from critical respiratory arrest and coronary heart disease.

He said: "If I was to come across an individual with that amount of heart disease who was found dead in bed I would have no hesitation in giving that as the cause."

Mr Townsend was sat on until police arrived and started CPR.

He was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital in Headington but died the next day, March 31.

The court heard on Monday Mr Townsend was the passenger on a green Kawasaki Ninja motorbike that drove into the Covered Market at around 9.15am.

By Jack Johnson
jack@oxfordmessagepapers.co.uk

Mr Townsend smashed a window of the shop with a sledgehammer before being restrained, while the driver dropped the motorbike and ran off.

Giving evidence, Mr Gowing said he heard "banging and crashing" and saw Mr Townsend, who was wearing a crash helmet, headbutt his shop manager Andrew Hill.

He added: "Andrew has been with me for many years so I was worried for his safety.

"I grabbed the individual from behind and it was all a bit of a melee.

"People seemed to come from all over and we all went down in a big heap.

"Me and Andrew were underneath him and there were a lot of people sat on top of him."

Ms Thompson was due to conclude the inquest as the Guardian went to print yesterday.

Rail route linking Oxbridge on cards

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A PROPOSAL to link Oxford and Cambridge by train "has real potential" a report published by a rail group has claimed.

A rail route between Oxford and Bedford is already in the pipeline to be built by March 2019.

But the East West Rail Consortium has backed a plan to extend the route to Cambridge as well.

The consortium is made up of local authorities and businesses behind the project to link the east and west.

Rob Menzies chair of the East West Rail central section steering group said: "Now that the western section between Oxford and Bedford is going ahead we are working to develop the business case for the central section to complete the missing link."

The latest study supports the case to extend rail links to Cambridge from which trains can then be caught into Norfolk and Suffolk.

It forecasts a population increase of more than one million people living in the golden triangle between Oxford London and Cambridge by 2031.

The report adds that up to 400 000 jobs will also be created in that area by 2031 and claims building the central section between Bedford and Cambridge would slash journey times for those travelling to eastern England.

Congestion on London's railways would also be cut as travellers bypass the capital to get to the east.

Mr Menzies added: "This study shows there is significant economic growth potential that could be unlocked through new rail services.

"The government is providing funds for Network Rail to undertake the next vital phase of feasibility work to identify a preferred route."

The rail route between Bedford and Cambridge was dismantled and built over long ago so a new line would have to be built.

Network Rail is looking into possible options.

Network Rail's principal strategic planner Graham Bothem said: "We welcome the exciting opportunity to unlock the economic growth of the region through improving rail services.

"We look forward to working with the consortium to explore the role rail services can play."

Bikes let loose in palace park

MORE than 1 000 cyclists descended on Blenheim Palace on Sunday as part of their family cycle day with many raising money for Oxford-based charity Oxfam.

The Blenheim Palace Sportive saw riders cycling around the palace's vast grounds during the day or taking on a 40 or 100 mile route through the Cotswolds countryside.

Somerset cyclist Ian Green won the 80 mile route in a time of three hours and 40 minutes, while Suzanne Barlington of Witney was the first woman back 40 minutes later.

Event organiser Andy Townsend said: "We were delighted to welcome over 1 000 riders to Blenheim Palace.

"The routes gave riders a rolling, hilly course to tackle but I think most came through to the finish with smiles on their faces.

"To see people of all ages and abilities on their bikes taking the unique opportunity to cycle in this historic estate was fantastic."

John Hoy CEO of Blenheim Palace added: "We were really pleased to see such strong competitor numbers which provides a compelling reason to support this event going forward."

The Sportive is expected to return next year on August 10 2015.

Cigarette theft

CHIPPING NORTON Thieves raided a Sainsbury's store of cigarettes on Monday.

Offenders broke into the Market Square shop shortly before 2am and took cigarettes from behind the till before fleeing the scene.

PC Simon Warn who is investigating the burglary said: "I would like to hear from anyone who may have been in the Chipping Norton area at this time.

"Did you see anyone around the area acting suspiciously or anyone leaving the area? If so, then please get in touch as soon as possible."

Anyone with information is asked to call 101.

Begging plan

OXFORD New measures to tackle begging in the city's streets have been announced by Oxford City Council.

The measures will see individuals caught begging for the first time offered the chance to attend a local day centre instead of receiving a police caution.

The centre Steppin Stone gives support to homeless people by helping them get off the streets.

Scott Seamons, the council's board member for housing and estate regeneration said: "Begging is a criminal offence and it does remain a problem in Oxford.

"With this new initiative in place an individual will have the opportunity to attend a one to one key working session to address the issues that made the person beg in the first place."

Hammer time

OXFORD A demolition ceremony to mark the start of a lengthy process to knock down the Hans Krebs Tower in Oxford University's Science Area was held on Monday.

Biochemistry librarian Brian Taylor was presented with a ceremonial hammer to mark the occasion which will see the tower demolished over the coming months.

It will make way for a building to house biosciences research having previously been the home of the biochemistry department until 2008.

Family support scheme praised

A COUNTY council scheme that identifies families most in need of help to tackle crime and anti social behaviour has been named as one of the best performing in the country.

The Thriving Families project was praised by government for offering help to 725 families in Oxfordshire.

It will now get government funding to support 400 more families by the end of March next year ahead of a national roll out of the scheme the following month.

Melinda Tilley the council's cabinet member for children education and families said: "This is a great opportunity to build on the results we have achieved so far.

"The fact is that a relatively small number of families account for a hugely disproportionate amount of public resources as a result of problems that with a little help can be addressed successfully.

"Families are getting the help they need to turn themselves around and make lasting changes to their lives."

The project works by assigning a dedicated person to help the family.

They work with police health services and other organisations to help the families deal with any problems that might arise in day to day life.

This can include poor school attendance criminal behaviour youth offending or adults out of work.

Murder accused 'planned suicide'

By Jack Johnson
jacklin.taylorman-spreyers.co.uk

WILL Blencowe planned to commit suicide and make peace with 17 year-old Connor Tremble before he stabbed the teenager 15 times in his flat, Oxford Crown Court has heard.

Blencowe, 21, of Oxford Road, Banbury, admits stabbing the teenager on February 13 in his flat in Farracres Road, Iffley Fields, but denies murder.

Psychiatrist Dr Michael Orr who visited Blencowe in prison told the jury last Friday the 21 year old has mental health problems and describes himself as 'the living dead'.

Dr Orr said Blencowe told him he had intended to buy heroin in Oxford to kill himself, but visited Connor to tell him he had no problem with his relationship with his ex-girlfriend Aimee Harrison.

However on Tuesday Heather Gilleski, mother of Blencowe's co-defendant Grant Clemens, said to the jury her son told her Blencowe had gone to Oxford to 'have it out' with a guy his girlfriend was seeing.

She continued: "He said some guy called Blencowe decided he was not going to kill himself but was going to Oxford to kill the other guy.

"Grant told me he (Blencowe) had stabbed this guy lots of times."

Last week the jury heard from Dr Orr that it was Connor who answered the door with a knife.

Blencowe told the psychiatrist: "I could see the situation but I was only an onlooker and then I told him 'I am not here for that'.

"I grabbed his arm. It was like he was ready to get me."

Dr Orr told Oxford Crown Court: "He said he could see his arm going into two stabbing movements.

"He said he ran out to the taxi and was feeling like a robot."

Dr Orr who said Blencowe suffered from a personality disorder and his mental state could have been compromised added: "He told me and I am quoting: 'It was my body but it was not me'."

Miss Harrison, 20, who dated Blencowe for four years until September last year, gave evidence at the trial earlier last week.

She told the jury in a telephone conversation with Blencowe, he promised he would not harm Connor after finding out they were a couple but told her to tell the teenager to 'run' if he ever saw him.

She said Blencowe owned about four knives, including a machete.

Miss Harrison revealed Blencowe would play around with his weapons in front of the mirror.

Bradley Jones, 21, of New Road, Headington, and Clemens, 23, of Stockwells, Moreton-in-Marsh, are also on trial and deny perverting the course of justice.

The trial continues.

New bus route and more buses for city

NORTHWAY residents will soon be able to get to and from the Headington shops with a free direct bus service provided by Oxfordshire County Council.

The council's free H1 bus service has been operating every Wednesday and Friday between Old Marston and Headington for over two years, but will pass through Northway from September 3.

The route change follows a successful Conservative proposal which came after elderly residents complained about the lack of shops in Northway and of not being able to get to the Headington shops easily.

Mark Bhagwandin, Oxford East Conservative chairman said: "There is no reason why the bus shouldn't have been going into Northway since it started operating over two years ago.

"A significant proportion of the Northway community is elderly with those on disability benefits higher than the rest of the city. A bus service to facilitate them getting to the shops is extremely beneficial."

The bus will now go from Bradlands in Old Marston into New Marston and Northway and then out to the Headington shops. It will make a return trip an hour later.

OCC have also introduced new parking restrictions to ease delays caused by badly parked cars in Wolvercote.

As a result the City1 service which links Wolvercote and the Woodstock Road with the city centre will have more buses from the end of September.

From 9.30am to 3.30pm buses will run every 10 minutes on weekdays rather than every 15 minutes at the moment.

Students seeing stars as A-level envelopes opened

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylernewspapers.co.uk

STUDENTS across Oxfordshire were celebrating last Thursday as more than 90 per cent achieved pass rates in at least two A-Levels.

Figures show 93 per cent of students in the county got two or more A-Levels between grades A* to E - similar to last year.

At The Marlborough School in Woodstock, all pupils achieved at least a grade C in English Language and English Literature while 88 per cent of candidates earned a grade B in Maths and Further Maths.

More students from Oxford Academy are heading to university than ever before - as 97 per cent got two or more level three passes.

Twenty four pupils at Chipping Norton School received two or more A or A* grades - half of whom earned three.

And nearly a third of boys at Abingdon School earned A* grades with an overall pass rate of 99.8 per cent.

Felicity Lusk, head of Abingdon School said, "For the fourth consecutive year over a quarter of all A Level passes achieved the highest grade.

"To achieve such excellent results so consistently is very impressive and a great credit to pupils and teachers."

More than half of students at Didcot Sixth Form College achieved grades of A* to B with 22 getting three A* or A results.

Rachel Warwick, head of Didcot Girls School said, "The hard work of our students, the commitment of our staff and their shared passion for learning has resulted in another year of excellent A Level results.

Congratulations to all of our young people on their deserved success."

Melinda Tilley, Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for education said: "Congratulations to all those students receiving such excellent results.

"As always results day represents the culmination of years of hard work on the part of the young people themselves, and the efforts of dedicated teaching staff across the country.

"Regardless of individual achievements, I wish all our students future success as they start the next chapter in their lives."

Year 11 students are to get their GCSE marks this morning.

Solar panels on school rooftops

By Jack Johnson
jack@lnpnewspapers.co.uk

• Solar panels on the roof of Edward Field Primary in Kidlington

SOLAR panels are being installed on the roofs of seven schools across the county as part of a scheme to generate enough energy to power 102 homes

Installation work will be finished at Warriner School in Banbury Chancy Academy in Oxford and Charlbury Primary in Chipping Norton this week.

And the panels have already been installed at the Banbury Academy Larkrise Primary and Wheatley Park School in Oxford and Edward Field Primary in Kidlington

Renewable energy company Low Carbon Hub introduced the scheme this year and hope to install solar panels on a further 10 Oxfordshire schools

In total 3 000 solar panels will be fitted to generate 617 megawatt hours (MWh) per year of energy saving 274 tonnes of carbon dioxide

The panels are financed by Low Carbon Hub through community share offers

CEO Dr Barbara Hammond said: "The scheme has proved to be very popular with schools as they don t need to raise the finance to install solar PV – the panels are owned by the wider community of Oxfordshire

"It also provides the schools with clean green electricity and is a great educational tool"

Oxford City Council approved a £2 3million loan for renewable projects in June

Low Carbon Hub is to pay off the money in September through community share offers

John Tanner board member for Cleaner Greener Oxford, said "I m thrilled the Low Carbon Hub are partnering with organisations to get more clean renewable energy generated in the city and county

"Schools and young people are a great place to start when saving energy and tackling climate change

"As a governor of Larkrise Primary I m especially pleased to see that school on the list."

Oxfordshire County Council have also supported the scheme and Cllr David Nimmo Smith cabinet member for the environment said "Renewable energy really is very much a thing of the present as well as the future and so I am delighted to see the county's young people and their schools receiving this kind of support"

Family saved after car river plunge

By Katriona Ormiston
kormiston@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A FAMILY of four was rescued from the River Cherwell after their car dived 10m through the curb before plunging into the water in north Oxfordshire on Sunday

Fire fighters waded into the river after the 7.15am crash to save the family near Neil Bridge between Aynho and Adderbury near Banbury

The driver and three passengers managed to escape the car but were trapped in the river

Their injuries, shock of the crash, the depth of the water and the steep embankments meant the family could not climb out

Fire fighters rescued them on arriving minutes after a 999 call from a passer-by

An Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue spokesman said: "A passer-by fortunately saw the accident and was able to raise the alarm

"The crews arrived at the scene within minutes and following a prompt scene assessment established that a single vehicle had left the highway and careered 10m through the air finally coming to rest on its side half submerged in the River Cherwell"

Fire fighters from Banbury Deddington and a specialist rescue crew from Kidlington were at the scene

Wearing dry suits and life jackets they rescued the family from the river using spinal boards and rescue sleds

Paramedics from South Central Ambulance Service (SCAS) took one person to the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford by air ambulance and three people were taken there by ambulance

SCAS spokesman Catherine Morrow said: "None of them are believed to be seriously injured they seem to have been pretty lucky"

Four ambulances, two ambulance officers and the Thames Valley and Chiltern Air Ambulance were called to the scene

The fire and rescue spokesman added: "The co-ordinated multi-agency approach resulted in a swift and successful conclusion and prevented a potentially more serious outcome"

Crews were then tasked with trying to stop petrol from the car leaking downriver

A specialist fire and rescue environmental protection unit was called to the scene, where crews used water filled booms to stop the fuel leak

Jason Patterson started out in comedy in 2006 and since then he's performed at comedy clubs all over the UK. Jason brings the house down with his relaxed style of comedy which leaves the audience wanting more.

"Brilliant observations backed by a perfectly measured delivery and an assured stage presence make Jason Patterson a popular regular at the country's leading comedy clubs"– Comedy Central Live

Neil McFarlane is an example of that rare species – a self confessed, and relatively shameless, middle-class Glaswegian. Neil has been performing on the Scottish and Northern England comedy circuits for six years. He is now playing to audiences in London and the South East.

"His best writing is offbeat, showing a clear ability to craft a gag"– Chortle

Fireman tackles Pacific ocean in rowing success

AN OXFORDSHIRE fireman and his team have finished a rowing expedition across the Pacific Ocean, coming home second after seven weeks at sea.

Darren Taylor, 42, from Charlbury was part of a four man team called Battleborn who completed the rowing challenge from Monterey in California to Honolulu in Hawaii in 45 days.

The team started the Great Pacific Race on June 9 and finished 13 hours behind eventual winners Uniting Nations when they crossed the line on July 24.

"It didn't seem hard until we finished," said Darren, "but I think it was mostly mentally difficult.

"Physically you just had to get up and do it and it very much depended on what the conditions were like as to how hard it would be.

"Once you have left sight of land you don't have much choice except to carry on."

Darren took part in the race to raise awareness for Young Onset Parkinson's Disease (YOPD) and raised £700 for Cure Parkinson's Trust.

The 42 year-old had been due to compete the race with his friend Alex Flynn, who has YOPD, but funding problems meant they delayed their joint attempt until next year.

By Jack Johnson
jack@oxfordmailnewspapers.co.uk

It meant Darren was an 11th hour entry to Battleborn, teaming up with Irish skipper Philip Cavanagh, Wrexham's Barry Hayes and Australian Dan Kierath.

Despite only meeting them at the last minute, Darren described them as a "fantastic bunch of guys".

He added: "When you are living in a small boat and the cabin is probably about two thirds the size of a double bed it can be difficult.

"We were very much living in each other's back pockets and I am sure everybody annoyed everyone at some point.

"They are a fantastic bunch of guys, everyone brought their own skillset and we crossed the ocean with humour."

Darren wore a wristwatch throughout the row, which was monitored by experts in the research department at Oxford Brookes University.

He said: "It tracked very accurate readings of all my movements during the whole trip.

"It will be able to see how my rowing technique improved and see the sleep deprivation and the affect on my body."

Skydive to raise funds for little girl's prosthetic limbs

A HORSPATH woman is preparing to throw herself out of a plane on Monday to raise money for six year old Oxford schoolgirl Charlotte Nott, who lost her arms and legs to meningitis.

Keely Sinnott, 37, will be joined by 23 others for the skydive at Hinton Airfield, near Brackley, on Monday.

"I have known Charlotte since she was at pre-school with my daughter Isabelle and we always try to support fundraising events for her," said Keely.

"We did the skydive last year and although I was nervous I really enjoyed it and I am really looking forward to doing it again."

Charlotte lost her limbs four years ago, and money raised will be used for specialist prosthetic arms and legs.

As Charlotte grows she needs two sets of legs each year, with each pair costing around £6,000.

Her mum Jenny said: "We have had a great deal of support from our local community for which we are extremely grateful.

"It's what keeps us going really – that and the look on Charlotte's face when she masters new skills."

To donate go to charlottesappeal.com.

An amalgam of energy

ONE of Shakespeare's shortest plays The Comedy of Errors is performed by an all male cast at Cogges Farm in Witney next Thursday

By Adam Flinn

It is performed by Gloucestershire's acclaimed Festival Players who will be staging the show alfresco at around 40 venues across the country

Just seven actors will be involved in the show, which will require them to play multiple roles necessitating in quick costume changes

This will be artistic director Michael Dyer's 10th all male production in a row for the Players

He said "It is a brilliant farce of mistaken identities and we will perform it very much as a colourful, entertaining romp

"It is of course totally authentic.

We are following in the footsteps of Shakespeare's own Globe Theatre when all roles were taken by men.

The Players have built a reputation for strong, all-male shows over the past decade."

The Comedy of Errors is known for being one of Shakespeare's most farcical comedies

It uses slapstick and mistaken identity to create the humour

It tells the story of two sets of identical twins that were accidently separated at birth and who try to track each other down

Making Shakespeare more accessible is one of the Players' key aims so they ensure that their productions are kept relatively short

Michael added "Our shows are never longer than two hours and we always try to make them crystal clear and an amalgam of energy, entertainment and colour

"We set out to take audiences of all ages on a journey and make them feel very much part of the production

The show takes place on August 28 and starts at 7pm.

Black Coffee for anyone?

ALL is calm on a quintessentially English country estate until murder shatters the peace and throws the house guests into chaos.

Eccentric physicist Sir Claud Amory is found dead and his new scientific formula has been stolen.

Arriving at the estate just moments after the discovery, one man immediately senses treachery and deception and sets about dedicating which one of Amory's guests betrayed him. Hercule Poirot is on the case.

Black Coffee at the Oxford Playhouse from Tuesday sees events unfold during this classic Poirot thriller.

It is the first play ever written by Agatha Christie, running at the Beaumont Street theatre from August 26 to August 30.

It introduces a character who went on to become the most famous detective of all time – and the only fictional character ever to receive a full-page obituary in the New York Times.

Put on by the Agatha Christie Theatre Company, Black Coffee stars Jason Durr as the famous Belgian sleuth.

He is best known from ITV's hit series Heartbeat and has also appeared in Lewis, Midsomer Murders and Miss Marple.

Jason was last seen at the Oxford Playhouse in Noel Coward's Volcano.

He will be joined by Gary Mavers, Ben Nealon, Deborah Grant, and Oliver Mellor – who for four years has played Dr Matt Carter in Coronation Street.

Georgina Leonidas, who played Katie Bell in the last two Harry Potter movies, will also take to the Playhouse stage.

Poirot debuted in Christie's 1920 novel The Mysterious Affair at Styles, making his first and only stage outing in the mistress of murder's debut play, Black Coffee.

Over two billion of her books have sold worldwide, beaten only by the Bible and Shakespeare.

Black Coffee starts at 2.30pm and 7.30pm. For more information, go to oxfordplayhouse.com

Prices increase with 'Summertown effect'

The last 12 months have seen some very high prices being achieved in Central North Oxford and Summertown – much of the interest has focused on the roads surrounding Summertown as the natural draw of shops restaurants and schools have had a continuing impact

Bertie Cassels of Butler Sherborn said "With this demand there has been a knock on effect to prices of properties in the surrounding areas and the more modern developments on the fringes not least in Waterways and also the earlier Berkeley Homes development in Jericho Waterside

"Year on year we have seen price increases of over 25 per cent on these developments with the larger town houses now commanding nearly £650 per sq ft. – a figure previously reserved for the popular Victorian housing in Summertown

"With the £1m barrier consistently being surpassed and demand from buyers ever increasing there seems little sign that prices will cool off

"Equally with housing on these developments being in the important catchment area for SS Philip & James these properties offer buyers a genuine alternative to the ever popular 19th Century housing stock and the market is certainly one to watch."

Review of the South Korean car company's alternative run-around, the Hyundai i30

Hyundai's everyday car offering

THE i30 is Hyundai's answer to the Volkswagen Golf, Ford Focus and Vauxhall Astra.

The new Generation i30 is longer wider and lower than its predecessor generating sportier exterior proportions without compromising interior functionality Offered in three and five door hatchback guises as well as an estate all models come with a five year 100 000 mile warranty

FACTS at a glance

Hyundai i30 Active 1 6 CRDi 110PS Blue Drive

Economy 76 3 mpg (combined)

REVIEW Hyundai i30 Active 1 6 CRDi

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

The engine line up ranges from a 99 bhp 1 4 litre petrol to a 126 bhp 1 6-litre diesel Tested here is the ultra efficient 109 bhp Blue Drive diesel, which returns a claimed 76 3 combined mpg and emits only 97g/km, making tl road tax exempt Trim levels run from the basic Classic to Active Style Style Nav and Premium. All models come with Electronic Stability Programme (ESP) Hill-start Assist Control (HAC) air conditioning Bluetooth voice recognition and USB connectivity This Active spec car adds cruise control, rear parking sensors electric and front and rear windows

Inside it is attractively designed, if slightly reminiscent of some familiar European models Regardless, it's a big improvement on the old car

There s a spacious feeling throughout the cabin and in the rear there's ample head and legroom to accommodate six-footers Stowage space is also plentiful in the i30 the centre cubby is particularly capacious—big enough to fit a small bag There s another little area for coins cup holders and a tray in the front of the gearstick The boot has pretty good access and offers 378 litres of capacity more than either the VW Golf or Ford Focus

This 109 bhp Blue Drive diesel proves eager enough once the revs are up but can lack tow down pulling power resulting in frequent use of the gearbox at lower speeds but the gear change is slick and easy to use Steering is nicely weighted and comfortable to grip

This Blue Drive model gets high profile tyres which help to provide extra cushioning to an already pliant ride making i30 a comfortable companion even when road surfaces deteriorate

It might not be the most interesting hatchback to drive but it's certainly capable secure and hassle-free The more time you spend behind the i30 s wheel the more you begin to appreciate just how much tl does right

Verdict -Hyundai s i30 is an appealing well-rounded package offering a persuasive mix of talents tl s worthy of serious consideration

Exiles lose out in Wasps friendly

HEAD coach Justin Burnell said lessons must be learnt after London Welsh succumbed to a 38 24 defeat to Wasps on Sunday in their latest pre-season friendly

The Exiles led 17 10 after 50 minutes with a try from Nick Scott a penalty try and a penalty from Olly Barkley

But a spirited fight-back from Wasps saw them regain the lead with Nathan Hughes (2) Charlie Davies, Guy Thompson and Myall Kearnan crossing as the home side upped the intensity in the final 30 minutes

Welsh however had the last word with a try from Chris Elder ensuring that Burnell's side enjoyed a bright end to the game

Events at Adams Park could not have been further removed from the Exile's comfortable 64-0 win over Henley Hawks on August 9

"It was a massive learning curve" said Burnell. "At 45 minutes we were more than in the game But it was those certain areas at crucial times there were four line outs in the green zone that we completely missed and you just can't do that

"So we're disappointed but I also felt there were a lot of positives in there The scrum was exceptional"

The Exiles will complete their pre-season programme when they take on Pontypridd at Sardis Road on Saturday August 23

They will then open their Aviva Premiership campaign at home to Exeter Chiefs on September 7 at 2pm

"We're very realistic as to what the challenge is going to be," said Burnell

"We've got three weeks now to build and move forward into the Exeter game

"We'll have time this week to review it and put things right

For Burnell there were still plenty of positives to take from the game with particular praise for the performances of Welsh's debutants

"I was really pleased Tum Molenaar, Dean Schofield and Olly Barkley's distribution and then you've still got that magical touch in Nick Scott and Seb Stegmann

"The front row with Taione Vea and Koree Britton from a very good."

City draw with Chorley

OXFORD City maintained their unbeaten start to the season after drawing 0-0 with newly promoted Chorley in the Vanarama Conference North on Saturday

The stalemate was the second in five days for City at Marsh Lane after last week's goalless draw with Worcester City

The away side dominated possession in the first half but failed to test Mark Scott in goal for City

Chorley were reduced to ten men after the break as midfielder Harry Winter was given a straight red for a professional foul

However Justin Merritt's side failed to create enough clear-cut chances and were forced to settle for a point

The result leaves City eighth in the league table with five points from three games.

City's next match will be on Saturday when they travel to Solihull Moors who sit ninth in the table

City have also signed South African born striker Bidemi Afolabi from Corby Town.

Afolabi previously played for Irish sides Bray Wanderers and Clongowes Wood for whom he scored 64 goals in just 31 appearances between 2010 and 2012

The highly rated youngster has been recently linked with interest from several high-profile clubs including Manchester United and Celtic

Scott bids for starting place ahead of season

LONDON Welsh's friendly with Pontypridd on Saturday is the last chance for players to stake a claim for a starting place against Exeter Chiefs says winger Nick Scott

The Exiles travel to Sardis Road for their final pre-season fixture before their Aviva Premiership campaign gets underway against the Chiefs at the Kassam Stadium on September 7

For Scott whose try opened the scoring for Welsh against Wasps last Saturday the friendly represents a huge opportunity to make sure of a place in Justin Burnell's plans

"It's the last chance everyone's got to put a marker down to be in the team against Exeter on the opening weekend" said Scott.

"We know how good a team Ponty are It will be a huge challenge and they'll be out to take our scalp, especially having been promoted and we're going to have to be on top form

"But it's also another opportunity to tweak things and try things and improve on our skills and to go in to the Premiership season on a high

Welsh and Pontypridd met twice last season in the British and Irish Cup with the Exiles losing 29-22 at Sardis Road before winning the return game 26 23 at the Kassam Stadium

"I'm really looking forward to going back the atmosphere down there last time was incredible, said Scott.

United captain confident of getting results after Morecambe defeat

SKIPPER BACKS U'S TO MAKE THINGS WRIGHT

CAPTAIN Jake Wright says Oxford United will start winning games soon after the U s were condemned to a third successive league defeat at table toppers Morecambe on Tuesday night

Kevin Ellison s 39th minute goal was all that separated the sides at the Globe Arena and the U s are one of four teams yet to score a single point in Sky Bet League Two this season.

However following defeats to Burton Albion Mansfield Town and Morecambe Wright is confident that United will soon pick up points– starting on Saturday at home to Portsmouth

"It was the best we've played all season " said Wright

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

We're devastated we lost the game gutted but if we keep carrying on playing like that, creating that many chances, we can't keep losing games

"We will start winning games and when we do we will get on a roll because the way we are playing is really refreshing

"If we weren t creating chances you would be questioning it, but we are creating chances after chances "

United felt aggrieved to have not left Lancashire with at least a point after Danny Rose a free kick hit the bar and two penalty shouts were turned down

Danny Hylton was booked for diving after keeper Barry Roche hauled him down, while there was a handball appeal late on

"The first one was a blatant penalty " said Wright

"That would have changed the game we score the penalty, the keeper gets sent off, we're against 10 men chasing trying to win the game

"We're devastated but we can't do anything about it, it's the referee s decision.

"He s made the wrong decision, but it happens in football you've just got to get on with it "

The 28-year old added. "For 80 minutes of a 90 minute game we dominated.

"Fair play to Morecambe they are top of the league and they have had three wins out of three– but I think it was clear for everybody to see that we played really well."
